Bringing the Curriculum to Life

Opportunities for Educators

A Smarter Way to Teach

IndEX (Industry Education Exchange) is a curriculum-first platform that connects teachers with employers, bringing real-world experience directly into the classroom, without adding to your workload.

It enables you to teach key curriculum concepts through real industry context, making learning more relevant, engaging, and memorable, while simplifying the process of employer engagement.

The Starting Point

Students need more than qualifications. They need to understand how their learning applies beyond the classroom.

We call this our Two Golden Tickets:

- Academic Success
- Real-World Experience

Bring your Curriculum to Life

Through IndEX, teachers can easily connect with employers who can:

- Deliver curriculum-linked masterclasses
- Set real-world projects and briefs
- Provide feedback, mentoring, and insight
- Offer work experience and placements

No curriculum redesign required.

No time-consuming employer searches.

IndEX enhances what you already teach by embedding employer engagement into the curriculum's existing Key Concepts, while codifying the process so it is simple, structured, and easy to implement.

When Learning Becomes Real

When students see how their subject applies in the real world:

- Engagement rises
- Understanding deepens
- Knowledge is retained
- Confidence grows

A Shift in Mindset, Providing Purpose

From: "Why are we learning this?"

To: "This is how it works in the real world."

Your Role Matters

You remain the expert in the room. Employers bring context and application. You bring structure, rigour, and assessment. Together, this creates a richer learning experience, without increasing planning burden.
